

Notes:

LIZARD'S TAIL
Saururus cernuus

Located in swamps and shallow water throughout the Division. Also known as Swamp-Lily, Breast-weed and Water-Dragon.

A perennial herb from extensively creeping, and aromatic rootstocks. Stems slender, erect, sparingly branched; 40 to 90 cm high. Leaves dark green, thin, heart-shaped, 5 to 9-ribbed with the pair of strong ribs above running to the gradually pointed tip, joined to the stem by a stout stalk; 7 to 15 cm long, 5 to 9 cm wide. Minute flowers white, densely clustered on 10 to 15 cm long spikes; spikes longer than their stalks, nodding at the tip; blooming from June to September.
